

LISA REICH

DIRECTOR & SCREENWRITER

While you always have big goals as a filmmaker, Lisa's greatest motivation is quite simple.

She can't think of anything better than sitting with creative minds while coming up with good stories. She finds it fascinating to see how different skills from different people come together and form ideas that wouldn't have been shaped while being on your own. This gives Lisa this much joy that she tries to work with this kind of approach as much as possible.

Through her time at the production company Revolution Film and her directing studies at the HFF Munich Lisa has found colleagues and friends for life.

In particular with Josef Zeller who she has formed a creative team with, both in writing and directing.

Their shortfilms were screened at several film festivals, including Hofer Filmtage, were part of the Next Generation Short Tiger program in Cannes and won awards at the Blaue Blume Filmfestival and the 13th Street Shocking Short.

When developing feature films or TV-Series their focus is primarily on thrillers, crime, horror and sci-fi concepts, particularly on those told around authentic and emotionally comprehensible characters.
